An inquiry into all things Kimball

BY JOE CAMPBELL
CRUSADER FEATURES STAFF

"There's no reason why a crappy meal should be costing $8 when we only get $5 for it." Peter Corrado, class of 2004 said this, but this idea is echoed by many on campus. Ernie Ng, another sophomore said, "I think it's really unfair that Kimball is making money off of us." Mary Beth Ryan, class of 2005 complained. "There's never ketchup when we need ketchup." Andrew Trentacoste, another freshman seconded that saying, "And there are never any soup spoons.

Matthew Beaver complained, "I can't get turkey when I get two calves!" Susie Kavanagh, a junior said, "I think I would care a lot more about Kimball ripping us off if my parents weren't dishing the money out."

Overall, the dissatisfaction with Kimball and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-entrée limit at upper Kimball, and even its counterpart Crossroads runs deep throughout the campus, but what is its source? Complaints about everything from cost, and the beef burgundy abound. Some of the complaints are about the meal times, the working environment, the two-ente...